

Home / Maryland Independent / Community / Briefs

http://www.somdnews.com/independent/community/briefs/toastmasters-develop-communication-leadership-among-youth/article_00f1ff47-2751-5849-b783-076244af3da7.html

Toastmasters develop communication, leadership among youth

Mar 16, 2016

Submitted photo

Fourteen students successfully completed the Waldorf Toastmasters Winter 2016 Youth Leadership Program, in partnership with the Charles County Public Library.

Waldorf Toastmasters Club, in partnership with the Charles County Public Library, sponsored an eight-week Toastmasters International Youth Leadership Program that began in January and ended earlier this month. The program explores the art of effective communication and leadership in a supportive environment. Topics include public speaking, how to organize a speech and how to gesture while public speaking among others.

Fourteen students from Charles County have participated in this series of classes that aims to prepare them to be tomorrow's leaders.

For more information on programs at Charles County Public Library, go to ccplonline.org or contact Program Coordinator Sarah Guy at 301-645-1395.