

The wonder of chemicals

Michael Reid mreid@somdnews.com
Jul 9, 2025

---

A Mad Science presentation July 3 at the Charles County Public Library's La Plata branch has three different levels which introduces ages 3 to 12 to the wonders of science.

The wonder of chemicals

MICHAEL REID/SOUTHERN MARYLAND NEWS Jul 6, 2025

Mad Science Guy (also known as Tony Smith) blows up a balloon during a presentation July 3 at the Charles County Public Library's La Plata bra...

science 1

MICHAEL REID/SOUTHERN MARYLAND NEWS Jul 6, 2025

Mad Science Guy (also known as Tony Smith) looks at a disintegrating foam cup during a presentation July 3 at the Charles County Public Librar...

science 3

MICHAEL REID/SOUTHERN MARYLAND NEWS Jul 6, 2025

Seven-year-old Hunter Stewart, front, and his mother Jennifer, both of Waldorf, touch some Gloop Glop, otherwise known as polyurethane foam, f...

science 4

MICHAEL REID/SOUTHERN MARYLAND NEWS Jul 6, 2025

Jehiel Alequin, 5, of Waldorf reacts after seeing an experiment during a Mad Science presentation July 3 at the Charles County Public Library'...

science 5

MICHAEL REID/SOUTHERN MARYLAND NEWS Jul 6, 2025

Mad Science Guy (also known as Tony Smith of Washington, D.C.) allows Christian Twyman, 7, of White Plains to feel the heat of a jar during a ...

Learning about science

Michael Reid/Southern Maryland News Jul 7, 2025

Mad Science guy Tony Smith speaks with participants during a presentation July 3 at the Charles County Public Library's La Plata branch.